

ERGP

BASD translated the Book 'Earth Restorers' Guide to Permaculture' (Permaculture: Prithibi Punarudharkarir Pathoprardharshok) in Bengali written by Rosemary Morrow, funded by Quaker Service Australia. This is a vital book for our times of climate catastrophes, biodiversity loss, species extinction, food cultivation and water scarcity. This book shows us the way to a livable future based on Earth care, People care and Fair share.

Project Goal:

People of Bangladesh and Bengali speaking people of West Bengal (India) and interested people of other countries will learn detail of Permaculture designing for climate change adaptation and mitigation, food security, earth care, water care, living being care for better habitat of our future generation and lives.

This is an extra ordinary and valuable book for all human beings specially who loves, cares and nurse earth, water, air living beings, likes to live happy and healthy in this world, likes to know climate change and disaster adaptation and mitigation, likes to grow nutritious and healthy food in all seasons in all environment and all places, likes to develop a healthy and protected home for living.

BASD is pleased to share this book, Permaculture: Prithibi Punarudharkarir Pathoprardharshok, with you. For further queries or assistance you are cordially requested to contact with us.